Midway Chatter

The 1977 Pickaway County Fair is beginning to wind down and it will officially be over at 10 p.m. tonight when most exhibits are released. It has been a good fair with big crowds, especially at the tractor pulls Wednesday and Thursday.

Link Brown, fair board director in charge of the grandstand committee, has been somewhat incapacitated this year due to back surgery in March. However, that has not stopped his participation in this year's events. He offers a big "thanks" to all who have helped him during the week.

Premium money may be picked up in the secretary's office in the Coliseum.

Several lost and found items are in the secretary's office it was reported today by Pam Elick. The items include a pair of shoes, purse and keys. The owners of the lost articles should claim them as soon as possible.

It was mistakenly reported that

Melissa Archer showed the winning steer in Class V Wednesday. It was Melissa Azbell, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Paul Azbell, 11580 Keys Road, who was the steer's owner.

Judging of the Junior Fair Horse Show is underway today at the arena located at the rear of the race track. Other activities of the final day include the sheep sale at 2:30 p.m., the hog sale at 6 p.m. and the nationwide demolition Derby at 8 p.m. in the Grandstand.

Scott Kleon, who is getting his baptism under fire as 4-H agent this week, admitted to being a little tired Thursday as he was helping to weigh steers.

Everything at the junior fair has been going smoothly this week and the credit has to go to George Hamrick, Bev Bechtel, John Schein, Nolan Hines, Cathy Scoby, Weda Mae Leist of the extension office and all of the many volunteers, junior fair board members, and advisors.

2 Tons Of Atom Material 'Missing'

WASHINGTON (AP) — There is no evidence that materials needed to build atomic bombs have been stolen from U.S. nuclear fuel plants, despite the fact that hundreds of pounds of enriched uranium and plutonium are unaccounted for, the government said Thursday.

For the first time, both the Energy Research and Development Administration and the Nuclear Regulatory Commission issued public reports on the previously classified issue of materials unaccounted for—or MUFs—at their related nuclear facilities.

Each agency reported enough MUFs, dating back to 1946 in some cases, to add up to enough material which in theory could be used to build more than 100 small atomic bombs. But the discrepancies were dismissed primarily as bookkeeping errors and other anomalies, rather than being viewed as actual losses.

ERDA owns more than 40 plants that have enriched uranium or plutonium on hand. The Nuclear Regulatory Commission licenses 28 similar facilities owned by private industry and under contract to the government.

The facilities covered by the reports are of the type that use or produce fuels that can be used for nuclear weapons. They do not apply to commercial power reactors, which use fuels of no value for weaponry.

ERDA said that, based on its review, including records going back 30 years, "three general conclusions can be drawn about inventory differences for significant quantities of strategic special nuclear materials:

1. "There has never been any physical evidence of attempted theft.
2. "There is no black market" in the materials.

3. "Less than one per cent of the inventory has ended up as inventory difference, and this has been explained."

The NRC, in its review of private plants operated since 1968, reached virtually the same conclusions.

Overall, ERDA reported inventory differences totaling 690 kilograms, or 1,518 pounds, of enriched uranium since 1946, and differences of 1,490 kilograms, or 3,278 pounds, of plutonium.

The NRC reported an inventory difference of 542 kilograms of enriched uranium and 32.8 kilograms of plutonium over the last nine years.

By government standards, two kilograms of plutonium or five kilograms of enriched uranium constitute "significant amounts, and they are represented as "fractions of the (Continued on Page 18)

A Marion man was killed early Friday morning when his Volkswagen slammed into the rear of a tanker truck in South Bloomfield.

Six other people were injured in accidents investigated by Deputies.

Two people were hurt in a two-car accident 3:53 p.m. Thursday on Route 674, two-tenths of a mile south of the Ringgold-Fairfield Road.

Marjorie S. Spalding, 57, 593 Northridge Road, and a passenger in her car, Sue Adkinson, 43, Route 5, suffered injuries.

He apparently died of neck and internal injuries.

Columbia Gas Promises No Winter Curtailments

Recent improvements in Columbia Gas of Ohio's natural gas supply picture will make it possible for the company to eliminate all curtailment except for industrial boiler fuel for the 1977-78 winter period beginning Nov. 1, it was announced today.

Marvin E. White, Columbus, chairman of the board of the gas company, said notification is being sent to some 1,100 large volume industrial and 1,270 commercial customers that the anticipated purchase of up to six billion cubic feet of emergency gas will make enough natural gas available to supply all allocated volumes next winter except for industrial boiler use which will be curtailed 100 per cent.

The emergency purchase was made possible by the July 22 order of the Public Utilities Commission of Ohio authorizing Columbia to buy enough emergency gas to eliminate all but boiler load curtailment and setting up producers to recover its cost from benefiting customers over 12 months. Previously the company was required to canvass curtailed customers and could purchase only as much emergency gas as customers contracted for in advance.

White also noted that a recently announced storage agreement that will make 3.5 billion cubic feet of additional natural gas available to Columbia of Ohio customers next winter has further brightened the supply picture.

"This agreement, which provides us with additional gas this coming winter by enabling us to shift a portion of our summer gas supply to the winter months when demands are at their peak, will make it possible for us to assure that adequate supplies of natural gas will be available to high priority customers, should below-normal temperatures occur again," White said.

"With the flexibility of operations provided by these additional volumes of gas, we should be able to withstand a winter that is considerably colder than normal by adjusting curtailment, if necessary, only on processing volumes where alternate fuels can be used," White pointed out.

White again reminded customers, however, that the gas supply situation is under constant review and that curtailment is subject to adjustment if there are significant changes in weather patterns, customer usage and conservation and available gas supply.

Weather

A high pressure system will continue to circulate unstable, tropical air into Ohio and bring a definite threat of rain. Hot and humid today, tonight, and tomorrow with a 50 per cent chance of showers or thunderstorms. High temperatures will be in the low 90s, while the low tonight will be near 70. The temperature extremes Thursday were 88 and 72.

Markets

NEW YORK (AP) — News of a drop in the unemployment rate and an easing of interest-rate worries helped the stock market stage a strong advance today.

The Dow Jones average of 30 industrial stocks climbed more than 3 points in early trading.

Gainers took a 5-2 lead over losers among New York Stock Exchange-listed issues.

The government reported this morning that the unemployment rate dropped from 7.1 to 6.9 per cent last month.

Brokers said traders were also pleased with the decline in the basic measure of the money supply reported late Thursday by the Federal Reserve. Close watchers of the Fed data had been fearful that any additional increase in the money supply would prompt the central bank to tighten credit further.

Today's prices included Aetna Life & Casualty, up 1/8 at 37 3/4, and Xerox, ahead 1/2 at 51 1/2.

On Wednesday the Dow Jones industrial average rose 2.17 to 888.17 after closing at 18-month lows in the two previous sessions.

Gainers outpaced losers by a 9-5 margin on the NYSE.

Big Board volume slowed to 18.87 million shares from 21.17 million on Wednesday.

The NYSE's composite index rose .20 to 54.02.

On the American Stock Exchange, the market value index was up .81 at 120.31.

Mexico Planning For Natural Gas Sales To Yankees

MEXICO CITY (AP) — A plan to pipe almost $2 billion worth of Mexican natural gas annually to the United States would benefit both countries, easing U.S. winter energy shortages and helping the Mexican government pay off its $20.3 billion foreign debt.

An estimated 2 billion cubic feet a day — about 3 per cent of the projected U.S. demand — would reach American markets in 1980, when Mexico plans to begin full-scale transmission from a newly discovered giant gas field through an 821-mile pipeline.

The Mexican state oil monopoly Petroleos Mexicanos, or Pemex, and a consortium of six U.S. interstate pipeline companies announced Thursday they had signed a "memorandum of intention" outlining the proposed sale.

A full agreement is to be signed within a few months, once the Federal Power Commission and other U.S. regulatory agencies give their approval.

Asked whether any problems were anticipated in winning federal approval, a spokesman for one of the U.S. firms, Texas Eastern Transmission Corp., said, "We sure don't. We didn't enter into this thing thinking it wouldn't fly."

Industry sources say the deal is "especially timely" because it coincides with the Canadian government's announcement this week that it is considering delaying by two years or more construction of a pipeline to carry natural gas to the lower 48 states from Alaska's North Slope.

The government of Prime Minister Pierre Elliott Trudeau is expected to announce a decision Monday on whether to open negotiations with Washington about building the proposed $10 billion pipeline.

A Canadian study recommended delaying the start of pipeline construction from 1979 to 1981, primarily to allow time for settling Indian land claims.

Delivery of Mexican gas is expected to begin at a rate of about 50 million cubic feet a day this year through existing lines, eventually reaching about three-quarters of its capacity of 2.7 billion cubic feet a day.

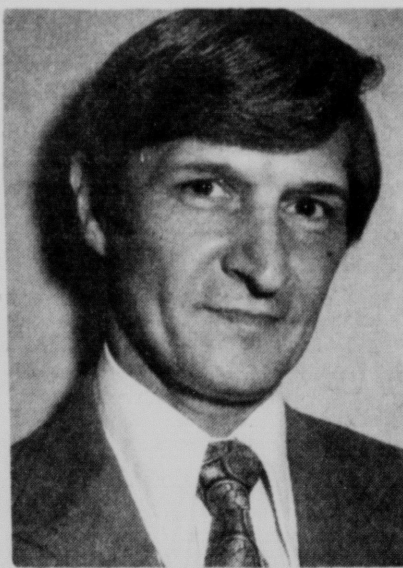

The new pipeline, to be built by Mexico, would carry Pemex gas from the newly discovered Reforma fields near Cardenas on the Gulf Coast's Bay of Campeche north to a U.S. pipeline terminal at McAllen, Tex., and from there to markets in the southern United States from Florida to California.

Markets

NEW YORK (AP) — News of a drop in the unemployment rate and an easing of interest-rate worries helped the stock market stage a strong advance today.

The Dow Jones average of 30 industrials climbed more than 3 points in early trading.

Gainers took a 5-2 lead over losers among New York Stock Exchange-listed issues.

The government reported this morning that the unemployment rate dropped from 7.1 to 6.9 per cent last month.

Brokers said traders were also pleased with the decline in the basic measure of the money supply reported late Thursday by the Federal Reserve. Close watchers of the Fed data had been fearful that any additional increase in the money supply would prompt the central bank to tighten credit further.

Today's prices included Aetna Life & Casualty, up 1/4 at 37 3/4, and Xerox, ahead 1/2 at 51 1/2.

On Wednesday the Dow Jones industrial average rose 2.17 to 888.17 after closing at 18-month lows in the two previous sessions.

Gainers outpaced losers by a 9-5 margin on the NYSE.

Big Board volume slowed to 18.87 million shares from 21.17 million on Wednesday.

The NYSE's composite index rose .20 to 54.02.

On the American Stock Exchange, the market value index was up .81 at 120.31.

Mexico Planning For Natural Gas Sales To Yankees

MEXICO CITY (AP) — A plan to pipe almost $2 billion worth of Mexican natural gas annually to the United States would benefit both countries, easing U.S. winter energy shortages and helping the Mexican government pay off its $20.3 billion foreign debt.

An estimated 2 billion cubic feet a day — about 3 per cent of the projected U.S. demand — would reach American markets in 1980, when Mexico plans to begin full-scale transmission from a newly discovered giant gas field through an 821-mile pipeline.

The Mexican state oil monopoly Petroleos Mexicanos, or Pemex, and a consortium of six U.S. interstate pipeline companies announced Thursday they had signed a "memorandum of intention" outlining the proposed sale.

A full agreement is to be signed within a few months, once the Federal Power Commission and other U.S. regulatory agencies give their approval.

Asked whether any problems were anticipated in winning federal approval, a spokesman for one of the U.S. firms, Texas Eastern Transmission Corp., said, "We sure don't. We didn't enter into this thing thinking it wouldn't fly."

Industry sources say the deal is "especially timely" because it coincides with the Canadian government's announcement this week that it is considering delaying by two years or more construction of a pipeline to carry natural gas to the lower 48 states from Alaska's North Slope.

The government of Prime Minister Pierre Elliott Trudeau is expected to announce a decision Monday on whether to open negotiations with Washington about building the proposed $10 billion pipeline.

A Canadian study recommended delaying the start of pipeline construction from 1979 to 1981, primarily to allow time for settling Indian land claims.

Delivery of Mexican gas is expected to begin at a rate of about 50 million cubic feet a day this year through existing lines, eventually reaching about three-quarters of its capacity of 2.7 billion cubic feet a day.

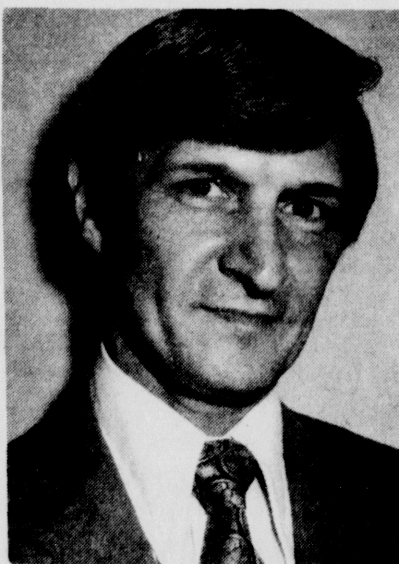

The new pipeline, to be built by Mexico, would carry Pemex gas from the newly discovered Reforma fields near Cardenas on the Gulf Coast's Bay of Campeche north to a U.S. pipeline terminal at McAllen, Tex., and from there to markets in the southern United States from Florida to California.

GOP May Be Hurt By Financing Bill Defeat

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Republicans who rallied behind the banner of party loyalty to beat public financing of Senate elections this week won a major legislative victory, but their own party may be the real loser in the long run.

Every available study indicates that private campaign financing for which the Republicans fought so hard overwhelmingly favors the Democrats.

There are all the old myths about the Republicans being the party of big business and big money, but the practical facts of life in modern politics give congressional Democrats the best chance at private campaign money.

This is based on two elemental facts. — Democrats outnumber Republicans by about 2 to 1 in Congress.

—Most of the private money donated to political campaigns goes to incumbents.

Despite the lingering beliefs that labor money goes automatically to Democrats and business money to Republicans, the fact is that the smart money follows its best interests more often than its heart.

The average political contribution from the big money sources is aimed at courting a winner far more often than toward making a winner of an ideological or partisan friend. This usually translates into giving money to a powerful incumbent rather than taking a chance on a challenger.

Equally mythical is the idea that the GOP gets all the money it needs from "fat cat" contributors. For all practical purposes the "fat cat" of yesteryear is out of the game. He can still give, up to $25,000 total, but not more than $1,000 to any one candidate, and that can't buy much or help all that much.

The new force in campaign finance is the political action committee, or PAC in the jargon. Committees can give up to $5,000 to a candidate, and spread those $5,000 beneficencies among members of a congressional committee with considerable effect.

These special interest groups contributed almost $22.6 million to congressional candidates last year, almost double their 1974 gifts. And any way you look at it, this money favored incumbents and Democrats.

In contested congressional elections involving an incumbent, the incumbents received $13.2 million from special interest groups, compared to $4.1 million for their challengers.

That's a 3-1 edge over-all for the predominantly Democratic incumbents, but the ratios can go even higher when broken down into the various special interests.

Money from agricultural groups

avored incumbents 7 to 1. Business groups, despite their generally presumed GOP preference, went 4 to 1 for incumbents regardless of party. Health groups favored office holders against outsiders by 3.5 to 1. Labor went for incumbents 3 to 1.

Approached another way, PACs associated with the securities industry, surely, the popular wisdom would say, friendly to the party of J. P. Morgan, gave $177,000 to congressional incumbents last year, and only $7,600 to challengers.

Likewise, PACs of the American Dental Association gave $288,000 to incumbents and $41,000 to challengers.

The simple law of averages says that if campaign donors favor incumbents and more incumbents are Democrats than Republicans the Democrats have to come out ahead. But it can be measured from another angle.

Maritime related unions, for example, gave $104,338 to members of the House Committee on Merchant Marine and Fisheries who were running for reelection in 1976. Democrats got $98,438 of it.

Dairy interests gave $205,986 to members of the House Agriculture Committee last year, and Democrats got $181,225 of that.

Traditionally, organized labor has had the advantage in PACs because of long experience, but the Republican party is pushing businesses to form their own political arms as a counter to labor.

Some 750 new PACs were formed last year and most of them were created by business firms, but even this does little to address the imbalance toward the incumbent Democrats.

Virtually all of labor's PAC money goes to Democrats, but because of the practical considerations of industry looking out for its interests and with an eye to spending its PAC money most effectively, the incumbent edge still holds.

And that means a Democratic edge. Studies of Federal Election Commission records have found that 40 per cent of the campaign gifts from these supposedly pro-Republican business PACs went to Democrats in 1976.

Bras Optional At Audio Store

RACINE, Wis. (AP) — "Shoes must be worn, but bras are optional," said the sign outside the audio equipment store.

The sign triggered a battle between the National Organization for Women (NOW) and store owner James Fumo, 54, who described himself as "a dirty old man."

Fumo said he changed the wording on the portable sign outside his J-J Audio Capitol store simply because he changes it every two weeks.

"We took it down after two weeks because we always take it down after two weeks," Fumo said.

JoEllen Simmons, 33, a Racine homemaker who heads the local NOW chapter, sent Fumo a "Thump on the Head" award for being a sexist.

She conceded the sign wasn't changed immediately, "but it's changed now, so we're satisfied. I don't think it was really an intentional thing. They just wanted to have a catchy saying."

Equally mythical is the idea that the GOP gets all the money it needs from "fat cat" contributors. For all practical purposes the "fat cat" of yesteryear is out of the game. He can still give, up to $25,000 total, but not more than $1,000 to any one candidate, and that can't buy much or help all that much.

The new force in campaign finance is the political action committee, or PAC in the jargon. Committees can give up to $5,000 to a candidate, and spread those $5,000 beneficencies among members of a congressional committee with considerable effect.

These special interest groups contributed almost $22.6 million to congressional candidates last year, almost double their 1974 gifts. And any way you look at it, this money favored incumbents and Democrats.

In contested congressional elections involving an incumbent, the incumbents received $13.2 million from special interest groups, compared to $4.1 million for their challengers.

That's a 3-1 edge over-all for the predominantly Democratic incumbents, but the ratios can go even higher when broken down into the various special interests.

Money from agricultural groups

avored incumbents 7 to 1. Business groups, despite their generally presumed GOP preference, went 4 to 1 for incumbents regardless of party. Health groups favored office holders against outsiders by 3.5 to 1. Labor went for incumbents 3 to 1.

Approached another way, PACs associated with the securities industry, surely, the popular wisdom would say, friendly to the party of J. P. Morgan, gave $177,000 to congressional incumbents last year, and only $7,600 to challengers.

Likewise, PACs of the American Dental Association gave $288,000 to incumbents and $41,000 to challengers.

The simple law of averages says that if campaign donors favor incumbents and more incumbents are Democrats than Republicans the Democrats have to come out ahead. But it can be measured from another angle.

Maritime related unions, for example, gave $104,338 to members of the House Committee on Merchant Marine and Fisheries who were running for reelection in 1976. Democrats got $98,438 of it.

Dairy interests gave $205,986 to members of the House Agriculture Committee last year, and Democrats got $181,225 of that.

Traditionally, organized labor has had the advantage in PACs because of long experience, but the Republican party is pushing businesses to form their own political arms as a counter to labor.

Some 750 new PACs were formed last year and most of them were created by business firms, but even this does little to address the imbalance toward the incumbent Democrats.

Virtually all of labor's PAC money goes to Democrats, but because of the practical considerations of industry looking out for its interests and with an eye to spending its PAC money most effectively, the incumbent edge still holds.

And that means a Democratic edge. Studies of Federal Election Commission records have found that 40 per cent of the campaign gifts from these supposedly pro-Republican business PACs went to Democrats in 1976.

Bras Optional At Audio Store

RACINE, Wis. (AP) — "Shoes must be worn, but bras are optional," said the sign outside the audio equipment store.

The sign triggered a battle between the National Organization for Women (NOW) and store owner James Fumo, 54, who described himself as "a dirty old man."

Fumo said he changed the wording on the portable sign outside his J-J Audio Capitol store simply because he changes it every two weeks.

"We took it down after two weeks because we always take it down after two weeks," Fumo said.

JoEllen Simmons, 33, a Racine homemaker who heads the local NOW chapter, sent Fumo a "Thump on the Head" award for being a sexist.

She conceded the sign wasn't changed immediately, "but it's changed now, so we're satisfied. I don't think it was really an intentional thing. They just wanted to have a catchy saying."

Children traditionally have been regarded as a kind of investment in the future. They carry our hopes beyond our lifetimes, and (we hope) will achieve where we have failed. Sometimes, of course, they fail where we have achieved, but this is a possibility no parent will recognize.

In this age they also are a heavy financial investment. The average family, we are told, will spend upward of $60,000 per child on its offspring between birth and maturity.

The cost varies considerably, as it does with many averages. Regional differences will affect the average, as will the relative affluence of the family.

So, no matter how the task is viewed, bringing up Junior or Sis is an expensive proposition. Not to mention the cost from age 18 onward.

It all makes that $750 a year income tax exemption the government grants a parent when the baby is born seem like peanuts. During those first 18 years, the total exemption is $13,500. The average tax saving on that exemption is probably $3,000 or $4,000.

That's only a drop in the bucket.

In Good Hands

By JIM BISHOP

The boy held his hands out as though he was carrying a gift. The fingers were cooked. The doctor snapped a light on. Slowly he turned the hands over and back. The skin was gone. Some of the tendons were astrophied.

The little hands were in a permanent fist. "How did you do it?" The doctor said. The boy's trembling chin held back the tears. Behind them, his mother sobbed. "Please," the doctor said to the nurse, "ask the lady to sit in the waiting room."

"I was melting lead to solder a radio set," the youngster said. "The pot turned over on my hands." The doctor was coldly professional. Saving these hands — trying to repair them — would be a long-term task. He applied medication and began to wind huge white boxing gloves up to the wrists.

"What are you going to be when you grow up?" The doctor wasn't interested. He was making conversation. "A doctor," the little boy said. "Ah," the physician said, "that's a momentary ambition. It requires too much study, too much work. A doctor needs good hands too."

He called the mother in. She seemed hostile. "What's it going to cost?" she said. "It's going to take a lot of time and a little miracle to make things work again," he said. "What does your husband do?"

"He died four years ago," she said. "I'm a waitress. Doug is all I have left." "What you have," he said icily. "Is what is left of Douglas. If you want me to treat him, I'll have to see him three times a week for awhile. Is five dollars a visit too much?"

"It is," she snapped, "but I'll pay it." He nodded. "I want you to understand that the fee is much higher, but in your case —," "Charity," she said. "I'll try to make the payments on time."

He studied the woman. Small, stout, alienated in an alien world. "He wants to be a doctor some day," the physician said. "He's going to need good strong hands." The woman shrugged. "He doesn't know what he wants," she said. "Here's your five."

In time, the boy and the doctor became friends. The kid asked a lot of medical questions. The dressings were peeled carefully. Skin grafts were applied. The five dollar visits went on and on. The mother worked extra hours for extra tips. She drew grim satisfaction from paying on time.

After several months of work, the hands had skin but it was in three shades. The fingers curled inward. "You're babying yourself," the doctor said. "I want you to work these finger muscles hard."

"They hurt," the kid said. The doctor smiled. "Think of what you did to them with that pot of lead," he said. "You're lucky to have enough nerves left to feel pain. Take up woodworking. That's an order."

At home, the boy carved wood into shapes and figures as he cried. His mother referred to the doctor as a "cold fish." She told restaurant customers that he was a money grabber.

In the second year, the doctor asked Doug to flex the fingers fully a dozen times. It wasn't easy, but it was done. The tendons were pressed and twisted by the physician. He noted that there were no tears.

"Come in Saturday at 11," he said. "And bring your mother." The boy asked if he was okay. "That's a good work," the man said. "Yes, your hands are okay. But don't give up the woodworking. The more you use these hands, the more flexible they'll become."

The doctor regarded those hands as his personal creation. He had devoted hundreds of hours to them, and was more surprised than the boy that they now had dexterity. In a way, he didn't like to stop the visits. They boy had

NEW YORK (AP) — Richard Ruggles is scheduled to appear today before the Joint Economic Committee of Congress about remarkable defects in the Wholesale Price Index, but he is uncertain what corrective action might result.

Seventeen years ago Ruggles participated in a similar study of the WPI. Nothing was done about the findings of imperfections then, many of which are restated in a study he completed earlier this year. But he is hopeful.

"Everything has an influence over time," said Ruggles, a Yale economics professor. Somebody, he said, will pick up the task sometime in the future and, working on the base laid down, will perhaps obtain results.

Meanwhile, labor contracts will be indexed, accounting records will be adjusted, the administration will attempt to make judgments on inflation and productivity, and even act on monetary and fiscal policy — on the basis of faulty data.

The production of statistics by government offices will not slow during this time. Production is what counts, and some statisticians might even be reprimanded for pointing to defects while those responsible are unscathed.

In private industry, statisticians and analysts responsible for ostensibly professional reports will arrive at conclusions they know are based on poor data. "Sure, I know they're wrong," said one. "What are we going to do?"

The WPI is acknowledged to have so many deficiencies that it is unreliable and misleading. Some of the defects are so obvious that one wonders how we can persist in making public and private decisions based on it.

Ruggles, who headed the most recent WPI study, for the Council on Wage and Price Stability, turned in his report March 15 containing on the very first page this remarkable statement:

"One of the first things an investigator learns about the Wholesale Price Index is that it is not based on the prices of wholesalers." It is, instead, based mainly on mining and manufacturing and some agricultural prices.

That is the beginning of the report. The conclusions are even more disturbing:

"The scope and coverage of the body of wholesale price data are not adequate for the uses made of the data. What is said to be a wholesale price index is more nearly a measure of industrial prices. New data are needed."

—Order prices and shipment prices are chaotically intermixed.

—In many instances, the wholesale price data fail to capture changes in transaction prices. "The prices which are reported to them often do not fully reflect changes in discounts and rebates or the special prices which producers offer to their customers."

—The methodology results in measures which omit most of the quality change taking place in the economy. That is, the improved value of a product is considered only if it is related to a price change.

—The weighting — that is, the assigning of values to certain numbers — results in general price indexes by the Bureau of Labor Statistics which are misleading.

The findings take about 160 pages to relate, but a statement by Ruggles in an interview perhaps best sums up the general importance to the public.

"More careful analysis would have helped us to understand inflation and how to deal with it," he said, referring to perhaps the most basic and chronically upsetting factor in modern economic management.

It is disturbing, said Ruggles, that decisions are made on the basis of faulty information, fundamental decisions that lead to other assumptions that hardly can be any better than the original.

"But," said Ruggles, a patient, scholarly and charitable person, "the world goes on."

Kidding itself, a person less charitably inclined might add.

"Hello, Mrs. Harvey — have you drawn up that list of your husband's shortcomings that I asked for?"

Speaking Of Your Health

by Lester L. Coleman, M.D.

My husband has had attacks of asthma for many years. Every time he hears of a new cure we pack bag and baggage and go to the most far-off places. Fortunately, he is retired so it's not too difficult to roam around. We've moved to three different parts of the country. Still the attacks come on. We heard about a special type of "cellular therapy" in Europe which is supposed to be good for asthmatics. Do you know where it is being given?

Mrs. A. V. D., R.I.

Dear Mrs. D.:

Yes, I am aware of the so-called "cellular treatment." The enthusiasm generated in the country of origin has not been substantiated by any physician in the United States. Under the circumstances, I would hesitate to recommend it for your husband. It would be an expensive experiment, fraught with a great possibility of disappointment.

Many new advances have been made in the prevention of asthmatic attacks and in their control when they do occur. Have you ever considered the possibility that your impatience for rapid recovery is chasing you from place to place, without giving any one single doctor a real opportunity to study your husband exhaustively over an extended period of time? Only in this way can a physician, in consultation with an allergist, establish a regime that will diminish the frequency and the severity of the asthmatic attacks.

I've been told that I have a "nervous stomach." I looked it up in a medical book, but couldn't find the term. Can you explain it?

Miss F.R.F., Ohio

Dear Miss F.:

Unfortunately, I will be no greater help than the medical book. For "nervous stomach" is not a medical term, and does not indicate a definite condition.

Many vague complaints are dropped in the homemade category of "nervous stomach" and "biliousness."

If you have any specific complaints, it would be much wiser to bring them to the attention of your doctor so that he can study them and properly evaluate them, with X-rays and other tests at his disposal.

Very often, a nervous, highly tense, emotionally upset person will have symptoms that are concentrated in the area of the stomach. If this is what you mean by a "nervous stomach" your doctor may take advantage of, a psychological consultation, in order to arrive at the definite cause of your problem.

SPEAKING OF YOUR HEALTH... Squeezing pustules on the face may lead to permanent scars. Don't do it.

LAFF - A - DAY

"Hello, Mrs. Harvey — have you drawn up that list of your husband's shortcomings that I asked for?"

Speaking Of Your Health

by Lester I. Coleman, M.D.

My husband has had attacks of asthma for many years. Every time he hears of a new cure we pack bag and baggage and go to the most far-off places. Fortunately, he is retired so it's not too difficult to roam around. We've moved to three different parts of the country. Still the attacks come on. We heard about a special type of "cellular therapy" in Europe which is supposed to be good for asthmatics. Do you know where it is being given?

Mrs. A. V. D., R.I.

Dear Mrs. D.:

Yes, I am aware of the so-called "cellular treatment." The enthusiasm generated in the country of origin has not been substantiated by any physician in the United States. Under the circumstances, I would hesitate to recommend it for your husband. It would be an expensive experiment, fraught with a great possibility of disappointment.

Many new advances have been made in the prevention of asthmatic attacks and in their control when they do occur. Have you ever considered the possibility that your impatience for rapid recovery is chasing you from place to place, without giving any one single doctor a real opportunity to study your husband exhaustively over an extended period of time? Only in this way can a physician, in consultation with an allergist, establish a regime that will diminish the frequency and the severity of the asthmatic attacks.

I've been told that I have a "nervous stomach." I looked it up in a medical book, but couldn't find the term. Can you explain it?

Miss F.R.F., Ohio

Dear Miss F.:

Unfortunately, I will be no greater help than the medical book. For "nervous stomach" is not a medical term, and does not indicate a definite condition.

Many vague complaints are dropped in the homemade category of "nervous stomach" and "biliousness."

If you have any specific complaints, it would be much wiser to bring them to the attention of your doctor so that he can study them and properly evaluate them, with X-rays and other tests at his disposal.

Very often, a nervous, highly tense, emotionally upset person will have symptoms that are concentrated in the area of the stomach. If this is what you mean by a "nervous stomach" your doctor may take advantage of, a psychological consultation, in order to arrive at the definite cause of your problem.

SPEAKING OF YOUR HEALTH...
Squeezing pustules on the face may lead to permanent scars. Don't do it.

Newlywed, 70, Wins $80,000 In Lottery

CLEVELAND (AP) — Saying his wife was the only charm he needed, a 70-year-old newlywed from Mariemont won $80,000 in the Ohio Lottery drawing Thursday night.

Meyer M. Klein said he and his new wife hope to buy a house with the money. The couple celebrated their first anniversary last month. Dorothy Klein is 66-years-old and it is the second marriage for each.

Klein said the system he used to win was to try to pick the letter "D" (for his wife's name) whenever he could. The retired plate layout man said he didn't use any lucky charms. "The only thing I carry with me is my wife. She's my charm," he said.

Klein said he and Mrs. Klein "had a feeling we would win and that feeling came true."

Klein can return next week to try to add to his winnings.

Other winners in the Pot O' Gold game were: Foster McBeth, Dayton, $6,600; Donald E. Woodring, Sylvania, $7,300; Mary I. Williams, Mansfield, $8,900; Frank Idzkowski and Barney Kender, Dayton, $9,500; and Henry Linnabary, Columbus, who added $9,500 to his big winnings of $55,000 last week.

Millard Fillmore was the 13th President of the United States.

SECOND FOODS — Becky Styer, 13, daughter of Mrs. Barbara Styer, 12580 Graham Dr., placed second in Do Your Thing With Foods.

Coal Miners Converge On Capital

CHARLESTON, W.Va. (AP) — A caravan of buses and cars was scheduled to bring about 1,000 striking coal miners to Washington today to protest cuts in union health benefits.

But the leader of the strikers' union — the United Mine Workers — said he won't be addressing the protesters. UMW President Arnold Miller said he wished that the 1,000 demonstrators, along with the 69,000 other miners striking Thursday, would return to work.

The protesters will be addressed by two of West Virginia's Democratic congressman, Nick Rahall and John Slack. Their speeches are scheduled to Set Workshops For Local Leaders

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Four state-wide workshops for local leaders and educators on how to cut federal red tape and locate grants have been set by Sen. John Glenn, D-Ohio.

A workshop for technical and two-year colleges, cosponsored by the Ohio Technical and Community College Association, will be Aug. 25-26 at Lorain County Community College, Elyria.

The Sept. 8 workshop at the Neil House, Columbus, will center on waste water treatment plant construction programs. The U.S. Environmental Protection Agency and Ohio County Commissioners and Engineers Association will participate.

be delivered at the Capitol, one of several stops the strikers plan to make in Washington.

Other scheduled destinations are the UMW International Headquarters, a park near the White House and the offices of the Bituminous Coal Operators Association (BCOA).

The marchers want to pressure the BCOA into agreeing to a request from Miller that the 1974 contract be reopened so talks can be held on reallocating money among the union's financially-troubled benefits funds.

The BCOA has refused that request, saying the reallocations may be illegal. In announcing the benefit cuts six weeks ago, funds trustees said that the poor finances of the funds were the cause. The cuts mean that miners have to pay up to $500 a year in medical benefits.

ROTARY SPEAKER — Bob Call (right) introduced Jim Brown, golf coach at Ohio State University, to Rotarians Thursday. Brown has coached at OSU four years and his teams have won the Big 10 championship the last two years. Woman Continues Slaying Testimony

CINCINNATI (AP) — "I am not lying now. I'm telling the truth. I admitted the times I lied," asserted Ann Marie Noske, chief witness against a Cleveland area physician accused of beating to death her 8-year-old son.

Miss Noske, 32, still emotional after two days on the witness stand, was scheduled to resume cross-examination today in Hamilton County Common Pleas Court.

Dr. Stuart Kutler, 31, emergency room physician from Brecksville, Ohio, is charged with murder in the Feb. 4 death of Arthur Noske at Kutler's home. Conviction on the charge could mean a prison term of 15 years to life. The trial was moved to Cincinnati from Cleveland because of pretrial publicity.

"He is a good doctor...but he killed my son," Miss Noske shouted Thursday shortly after defense attorney Robert Hanna began his questioning. He zeroed in on the fact that she participated in an alleged coverup for two weeks after her son died and his body was hidden. It has never been found.

"I was spaced out on drugs, in a state of euphoria. That's why I went along with it," she replied, anxiously clutching a handkerchief as she answered.

"You are an adult. You didn't have to take drugs," retorted Hanna. "You were home alone eight hours a day when he was working at the hospital, the man who so brutally killed your son," Hanna demanded, noting she was interviewed by many police and news and broadcast reporters out of Kutler's presence.

"I still loved him no matter what he had done. I loved them both equally. Besides, I was carrying another child. I had to think of that," she pleaded. "He gave me the drugs to calm me down. That's why I was admitted to a hospital later with acute depression. That's why I had the miscarriage," she said, adding that the baby was Kutler's.

Hanna cited previous statements she had made that differed from her testimony.

"There were so many statements my mind is clogged. I don't remember many of them," she replied.

"Isn't your testimony in this case more lies like you've told all your life?" Hanna asked, citing three applications for welfare aid in which Arthur's father had different names.

"But I am telling the truth now," she said.

Miss Noske also admitted she was given a choice by Suburban Community Hospital, where she met Kutler last July, of quitting or being fired for unethical conduct.

Protest Broadens

KENT, Ohio (AP) — The protest over construction of a gymnasium annex near the site of the 1970 Kent State shootings grew Thursday when families of 10 shooting victims visited the campus.

Mrs. Louis Schroeder of Lorain, mother of William Schroeder who was one of four students slain by National Guard fire at the site on May 4, 1970, was among the visitors.

She said, "All that we have asked is that they preserve for posterity these beautiful trees, these green slopes and this naturally lovely setting where four of our children lived the final hours of their brief existence."

Nine students were wounded by the gunfire at the site during an antiwar protest.

To preserve the site, supporters of the May 4th Coalition have, on several recent occasions, occupied the hill and more than 200 persons have been arrested for defying a court order to stay off the site.

The parents of three of the four slain students and of seven of the wounded walked to the parking lot below the hill and observed a few moments of silence where each of the four died.

"What we the parents have questioned is the propriety of the university's decision to build on this site without including the coalition, the students and the families of the dead and wounded in that critical process."

University officials claim they followed all the proper procedures in choosing the site and in awarding the construction contracts.

One Great Certainty

We go back to the old homestead, the old home town. Perhaps we have long anticipated that visit, but now we find that the changes are so disillusioning that we don't care whether we ever return. We meet a friend of years gone by and hardly recognize him. He too has changed. We compare the face reflected from our mirror with old photographs and realize that, without knowing it, we have changed. We try to use a map of yester-year only to discover that it is out of date.

We shudder a little as we wonder if there is anything that remains the same.

The Church tells us that there is. Through the centuries it is the one institution which points to the unchanging God, "the same yesterday, today, and forever." Worship customs may differ, but every Christian congregation seeks to lead men to the one great Certainty, which is God. That is why you will want to attend church regularly. Here is peace. Here is assurance.

On Books And Activities At The Library

The Weatherman has outdone himself with weather for the County Fair! After visiting all the exhibits and talking in the races and the midway, you're ready to put up the feet and relax. That's where the Pickaway County District Public Library comes in. You can relax better with a good book from our collection. Why not try one of this week's new titles?

Colin Forbes ranks as one of the best when it comes to writing tales of suspense and adventure. Scheduled to become a motion picture, "Avalanche Express" is a thriller story which gives the reader terrifying insights into the secret war between East and West.

"The Green Salamander" by Pamela Hill brings to life one of the most remarkable personalities in history. Margaret Douglas is linked by blood to the throne of Tudor England. Her life and ambitions for her son, put her in the middle of one of England's most tumultuous periods.

Barbara Paul gives us a richly romantic tale of a young girl. "The Frenchwoman" is the story of Juliette Delahousse as she becomes swept up in the passions of the Napoleonic wars and her own wayward heart.

In a fast-paced suspense novel, Robert Byrne mingles fact with fiction. "The Tunnel" is the story of an engineer chosen to build the under-Channel tunnel from England to France. It's also the story of an Irish terrorist who sees it as the way to destroy British economy.

Timely enough to give you an uncomfortable feeling, "Heat" by Arthur Herzog is a highly plausible story of mounting tensions as ecological doom beckons. The author warns us of the destiny we may well confront in our lifetime.

"Kith" by Percy H. Newby is romance with a touch of violence and action. Set in exotic Cairo in 1941, it's the oreposterous tale of a young medical orderly.

William Scarton has been reared as a soldier with a rigid devotion to duty and order. "The Widower's Son" by Alan Sillitoe is a moving novel of how this devotion almost destroys the man.

If you like your romances filled with searing passion and stirring adventure, "Wicked Loving Lies" by Rosemary Rogers will meet all the requirements! Set against a backdrop of decadent 19th century Europe and the savage wilderness untamed America, it's an intoxicating saga.

"Witness To Treason" by Millie Ragosta puts young Katherine der Mer in danger again as she discovers her true identity in the Court of Edward I of England. Romantic suspense readers will enjoy this new novel.

New romances from Avalon, Crime Club mysteries and Double D. Westerns will make the range of fiction choices a little more interesting this week.

Jump ropes are becoming popular as a means of staying fit. Athletes have known this for many years. "Jump Rope!" by Peter Skolnik is a great new book to help you get into the swing of it!

It's not too early to start boning up on the art of skiing. "Skiing" published by the Athletic Institute will help you with techniques.

If you've ever longed to sculpt, "Sculpture" from Sunset Books will show you how to use simple materials to get you started.

Old car buffs won't want to miss "Vintage Auto Almanac 1977". It's the first annual of the Hemmings Motor News and provides a complete and entertaining directory to the old auto hobby.

"How To Invest In Gold Coins" by Donald Hoppe is a definitive volume on collecting gold coins as a hedge against inflation.

If you're facing surgery, "The Patient's Guide To Surgery" by Lawrence Galton attempts to answer questions and help you make the best of your operation.

Through the generosity of a patron, we can now offer recordings of sermons from "Guideposts." These are especially nice for people with eye problems or too infirm to read. If you know of someone who might enjoy this service, stop by and see us soon.

College Sending Students To Jail

FOREST CITY, Iowa (AP) — Waldorf College is so short of dormitory space it is sending its students to jail.

Six women students will be living in the old Winnebago County jail this fall because the junior college, which has room for 500 students, is expecting 550.

The girls won't actually be sleeping in the cells but will live instead in the sheriff's quarters, which are attached.

"Three girls volunteered (to live in the old jail), and they will suggest three more to live with them," said Dean of Students Phil Peters.

The old jail has been renamed "The Sunshine House."

SCHOOL CLOTHES — Diana Greenlee, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Clifford Greenlee, Route 2, Ashville, received second place for her outfit in the category of Clothes for School. She is a member of the Stylish Stitchers 4-H Club.

C&SOE Hike Contested By Counsel

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Ohio's new consumers' counsel office said today it has "serious questions" about a rate hike request from Columbus and Southern Ohio Electric Co. and will intervene in hearings before the utilities commission.

William A. Spratley, who heads the office, noted that the $45.5 million rate increase would be the company's third in four years and that it would affect 400,000 residential customers in 24 central and southern Ohio counties.

He told a news conference the consumer office is concerned about $32 million of the $45.5 million requested under the "construction work in progress" provision of Ohio's utility rate making law.

The provision permits utility companies to ask that the construction cost of facilities that are 75 per cent complete be included in the rate base. Spratley said he was not sure that part of the request was justified.

Spratley said he would examine requests for $9 million to cover the costs of materials and supplies and $11.5 million for a tax normalization provision. That permits utilities to take advantage of federal tax breaks instead of passing those savings along to consumers.

The consumers' counsel office will be entering its first major rate hike hearing from its inception for the first time since it was created by the legislature last October. Spratley said hearings are expected to get underway in the commission next January.

He said the office, which was not fully funded by the legislature for an entire biennium until July 1, will probably spend between $80,000-$100,000 to represent consumers. He noted that the central Ohio utility listed $400,000 to cover the company's cost of presenting its side of the rate case.

Making Money

WASHINGTON (AP) — Being a counterfeiter is tough work.

According to National Geographic, a lot of work goes into making money. The design of each bill is cut into steel plates, but most of the detail work is done by hand. Several engravers work on each plate, some specializing in faces, others in lettering.

Once the plates are made, the paper, a special type impregnated with tiny red and blue threads, goes through the presses three times — once to print the back, once to print the front and a third time to print the serial numbers, letters and seals on the bills.

The money comes off the presses in sheets of 32 bills each, at the rate of 222,720 bills an hour. Each sheet must be examined by an inspector, cut into bills and checked by electric eye to see that it has been properly cut. Finally the new bills are stacked into packets of 100 each, ready for shipment to Federal Reserve Banks which distribute the new money for circulation.

Stoutsville Council To Build Village Garage

Stoutsville Village Council members passed an ordinance to erect a municipal garage during the regular Monday night session.

A special meeting has been called for Tuesday to meet with Ray Sifford to further discuss village water procurement.

Robert Harrison stated the cleaning of storm sewers has been completed and replacement grates will be installed. He also stated patching would be done on village streets within the next couple of weeks.

The clerk presented bills for approval for payment.

In attendance were Mayor Ellsworth Wright, Clerk Mary E. Meyer and councilmen Robert Brobst, Charles Harrison, Lloyd Meyer, Leewood Rhymer and Robert Harrison.

L.A. Outdoor Artists Create 'People's Art'

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Joe Bravo likes to call his eye-catching outdoor murals "people's art."

"It used to be that only rich people could afford to have murals painted," said the bearded 26-year-old San Fernando Valley artist.

"Art should belong to the people, and this way it can be enjoyed by the entire community, and not just a select few."

Bravo is one of several visionaries who use brushes and buckets of paint to transform urban blight into visual delight along the streets of Los Angeles.

Fading, lifeless walls that once bore graffiti have come alive with surrealistic fantasies and serene still-lives as Bravo and other artists perform their mural magic.

There are political murals — one shows a blonde woman representing justice blindfolded by the American flag. There are murals painted by rival street gangs depicting their members in various activities; ethnic murals feature Mexicans, blacks, Indians, Asians and other races from the municipal melting pot. And there are murals for farm workers, students, newlyweds, nature lovers and just plain folk.

One on the outside wall of a post office in West Los Angeles shows an elevated freeway abruptly chopped in half, the victim of a massive earthquake. Another rendition of an old woman wrapped in an afghan can be seen by motorists driving north on the Hollywood Freeway.

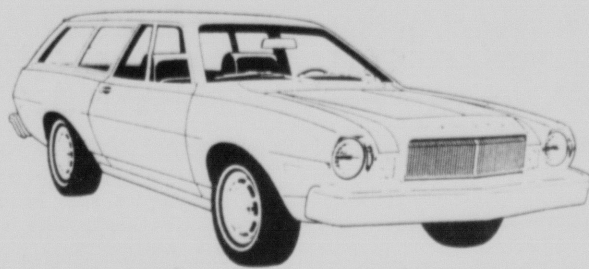

"Murals reflect the mood or feeling of the community, and people often come by and make suggestions," said Bravo, who favors blue jeans and funky hats when doing his outdoor paintings. "I welcome the suggestions; it just makes my job easier."

A graduate of California State University at Northridge, Bravo used to work as a commercial artist but decided murals offered greater freedom of expression and more potential.

"These are my own ideas, not somebody else's," he said. "In other words, I'm doing the driving, instead of being driven."

While outdoor murals are found in several other large cities, in Los Angeles they enjoy the blessing of the City Council, which provided in 1974 an annual budget of about $100,000 for new murals each year.

Stoutsville Council To Build Village Garage

Stoutsville Village Council members passed an ordinance to erect a municipal garage during the regular Monday night session.

A special meeting has been called for Tuesday to meet with Ray Sifford to further discuss village water procurement.

Robert Harrison stated the cleaning of storm sewers has been completed and replacement grates will be installed. He also stated patching would be done on village streets within the next couple of weeks.

The clerk presented bills for approval for payment.

In attendance were Mayor Ellsworth Wright, Clerk Mary E. Meyer and councilmen Robert Brobst, Charles Harrison, Lloyd Meyer, Leewood Rhymer and Robert Harrison.

L.A. Outdoor Artists Create 'People's Art'

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Joe Bravo likes to call his eye-catching outdoor murals "people's art."

"It used to be that only rich people could afford to have murals painted," said the bearded 26-year-old San Fernando Valley artist.

"Art should belong to the people, and this way it can be enjoyed by the entire community, and not just a select few."

Bravo is one of several visionaries who use brushes and buckets of paint to transform urban blight into visual delight along the streets of Los Angeles.

Fading, lifeless walls that once bore graffiti have come alive with surrealistic fantasies and serene still-lives as Bravo and other artists perform their mural magic.

There are political murals — one shows a blonde woman representing justice blindfolded by the American flag. There are murals painted by rival street gangs depicting their members in various activities; ethnic murals feature Mexicans, blacks, Indians, Asians and other races from the municipal melting pot. And there are murals for farm workers, students, newlyweds, nature lovers and just plain folk.

One on the outside wall of a post office in West Los Angeles shows an elevated freeway abruptly chopped in half, the victim of a massive earthquake. Another rendition of an old woman wrapped in an afghan can be seen by motorists driving north on the Hollywood Freeway.

"Murals reflect the mood or feeling of the community, and people often come by and make suggestions," said Bravo, who favors blue jeans and funky hats when doing his outdoor paintings. "I welcome the suggestions; it just makes my job easier."

A graduate of California State University at Northridge, Bravo used to work as a commercial artist but decided murals offered greater freedom of expression and more potential.

"These are my own ideas, not somebody else's," he said. "In other words, I'm doing the driving, instead of being driven."

While outdoor murals are found in several other large cities, in Los Angeles they enjoy the blessing of the City Council, which provided in 1974 an annual budget of about $100,000 for new murals each year.

Bare Scouts Don Clothes For Meets

TAMPA, Fla. (AP) — This story might have been about the Bare Scouts of America. But where would a scout be with no place to sew on a merit badge?

So the members of Girl Scout Troop 746 and Boy Scout Troop 66 put on uniforms when they attend meetings, go camping or engage in other scouting activities. The rest of the time, they are trustworthy, brave, loyal ... and nude.

"It's just like anybody in the service," said Bob VanNess, manager of the camp where 25 families have permanent homes. "When a man's on duty, he wears his uniform. When he's off duty he wears what he wants. In this case that's nothing."

The troops meet in the clubhouse of City Retreat Naturist Park, Inc., a nudist camp about 30 miles northwest of Tampa.

VanNess said the boys' troop was organized last fall at the request of parents living at the park, which he says is family-oriented with high moral standards. The girls' troop was formed this spring. A former scout living at the camp organized both troops.

"The Boy Scouts and Girl Scouts meet in uniform. It's the only activity we allow with clothing on," he said. "They pretty well do the same things other scout troops do. They go on separate camping trips."

"It's all cleared with the Boy Scouts and Girl Scouts of America," he added.

"If they want to have a troop in their own community, they certainly can," said Carolyn Henderson of the Girl Scout Headquarters, Suncoast Council.

Lawmakers Grapple With Salaries

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Ohio lawmakers are grappling with thoughts of increasing their own salaries, caught between inflation and an electorate which could resent an increase and vote them out of office.

But some who say $17,500 a year isn't enough are coming forward, pointing out that they must pay their own living expenses about three days a week in Columbus from six to nine months a year, while paying to keep the domestic fires burning back home.

Senate Majority Leader Oliver Ocasek, D-27 Akron, while stressing he has not decided whether to actively support a pay hike, says lawmakers deserve more. He said most "find it difficult to maintain a job and be a legislator" at the same time.

Rep. Arthur Wilkowski, D-46 Toledo, has introduced a bill which would give members of the House and Senate an increase of $5,000 annually, but require them to pay their expenses to and from the capital, for which they now are reimbursed.

The bill may get hearings when the legislature returns Sept. 19 from summer recess, but no commitments have been made.

Members of the Senate and House received their last annual increase Jan. 1, 1975 from $14,000 to $17,500.

Conservative Rep. Gene Damschroder, R-85 Fremont, is trying to lead a movement the other way. He wants to cut salaries back to the $12,000-a-year level, and limit sessions to two months a year.

Damschroder, who returned his last two-year raise to the state—a total of $7,000—predicts voters will approve his proposal if he can get it on a statewide ballot, maybe next year.

Ohio's Republican Party is steadily mounting a 1978 campaign that will stress their claim of arrogance on the part of Democrats who control the legislature with veto-proof majorities.

State GOP Chairman Earl Barnes coined the phrase "arrogance of power" and it was quickly picked up by Senate Minority Leader Michael J. Maloney, R-7 Cincinnati, and House Republican Leader Charles F. Kurfess, R-83, Perrysburg.

Kurfess, who announces his campaign for the GOP nomination for governor Saturday, went a bit further in evaluating the performance of the legislature this year.

He said Democratic leaders capitulated to labor, education and other special interests and ran the state's business in "an air of exclusivity."

Friend Asks Her For Her Husband

DEAR ABBY: Last week I returned from caring for my ailing mother for the last five weeks. She has a terminal illness and lives 300 miles from here.

Yesterday a friend of mine called on me and I am still in shock. She begged me to give my husband a divorce! It seems they saw a lot of each other while I was out of town. She says they were "in love," and he claimed I won't give him a divorce. She said my husband said we were "separated" and I had left him!

We've been married for 17 years and there never was any mention of divorce. In fact, I thought we had a good marriage. I am stunned, hurt and dizzy trying to figure this out.

Can you help me?

STILL IN SHOCK

DEAR STILL: What's to figure out? Tell your husband about your visitor, and let HIM explain it to you.

DER ABBY: I have a rather delicate problem. My husband comes from a large family, and I get along very well with all of them, but naturally I like some of his sisters and brothers better than others. My question: When I entertain, isn't it O.K. for me to invite, say, a few of my husband's sisters and brothers, and leave some out?

I was called on the carpet by my husband's grandmother who said if I couldn't invite ALL of the brothers and sisters, I shouldn't invite any of them. Abby, that would make 18 people every time. I don't expect to be invited every place MY sisters and brothers are. I'd like to add that I invite the whole tribe occasionally, so it's not like I'm snubbing anyone.

BIG FAMILY

DEAR BIG: I don't know who is calling the signals in your family, but she's out of bounds. If you "invite the whole tribe occasionally," no one should feel offended. Invite whom you wish.

DEAR ABBY: I have a problem. I am a 66-year-old woman who is engaged to a 69-year-old man. He has been a widower for 11 years. He has asked me to go with him to visit his family. It would be a 900-mile trip by automobile.

My children feel that it would be "proper" for me to go with him if we flew, but "improper" if we drove. I have known this gentleman since childhood and see nothing "improper" about making the trip with him regardless of how we went. Will you kindly advise me, Abby.

DEAR UNDECIDED: I see nothing "improper" here, except possibly that which exists in the minds of your children. Go along with your fiancé and have a wonderful time.

DEAR ABBY: What is your opinion of a person who is constantly correcting others in public about the pronunciation of words and their use? All involved in this situation are adults.

Thank you.

Willie's Dillies

By A BENCHWARMER

If you didn't make it out to the two day harness racing meet at the Pickaway County Fair, you really missed a good time. Glenn McCoy and his Speed Committee — Dick Shaw, Harlow Arledge, and John Fissell — really outdid themselves. The track was in excellent shape — especially after Sunday night's rain — and our local drivers made a real good showing of themselves: (Of course we're just like Willie Dillie himself — we couldn't possibly be prejudiced for the local people!)

Even if you don't know much about harness racing, it's still pretty hard to keep a calm feeling inside of you when those magnificent animals come sailing past, sweating and straining, and barely seeming to touch the ground with their hooves. We were glad we were there and we wouldn't have missed it for the world.

A big thanks to everyone who helped in any way with the fair — it was a great time and we enjoyed being there and seeing all our friends and making new acquaintances. After the fair's end tonight, everyone can start marking the days off the calendar until Pumpkin Show!

So you don't think that the summer is really slipping by us all that fast? Well — tonight in Canton the cream of the Ohio high school football crop last season will square off in the annual North-South All Star game — and right here in Pickaway County, the high schools have started football conditioning drills and the squads are all busy preparing for that magical moment — 8 p.m. on the evening of September 9. It kind-of reminds you of when you were a kid waiting for Christmas morning to roll around.

The fearless forecast — we'll take the South over the North in Canton, and the Reds will pull out a good series against Pittsburgh.

Until next time — have a nice day, be a good sport.

Rochester Tops Toledo In IL, 3-2

By The Associated Press

Ed Farmer hurled his fifth straight win and Terry Crowley raised his league-leading homer output to 29 as Rochester downed Toledo 3-2 in International League baseball action Thursday night.

In other games Tidewater beat Syracuse 9-5 and Richmond swept a pair from Columbus 2-1 and 7-3. Pawtucket and Charleston were idle.

Farmer raised his record to 11-3 with the win. Crowley's solo shot in the bottom of the eighth proved to be the game winner. He also leads the league now in runs batted in with 78.

The Mud Hens' Vassie Gardner hit a solo homer in the fourth.

Tidewater exploded for seven runs in the fifth inning to down the visiting Syracuse Chiefs 9-5.

Tides' catcher Ned Yost stroked his tenth homer of the year in the fourth as Mike Bruhart picked up the win with relief help from Tom Makowski in the seventh.

At Richmond, the Braves swept a pair from the Columbus Clippers.

In the first game, the Braves got their winning run in the final inning when Bob Beall scored on Bob Belloir's single, making it 2-1.

Set Center For U.S. Olympians

ATHENS, Ohio (AP) — An Athens, Ohio, jogger is helping establish a weight and strength testing center for future United States Olympians.

Dr. Frederick "Fritz" Hagerman, an Ohio University zoology professor who jogs in his spare time, is installing the project this summer at Squaw Valley, Calif.

Hagerman says the weight and strength testing center is one of seven areas being completed at Squaw Valley, a new national Olympic training center.

"Under exercise conditons," said Hagerman, "we can test athletes' lungs, heart, blood vessels and muscles."

"We can provide some information for them that might not be available to them at home. It's a real challenge."

Hagerman has been joined by three assistants to establish the center.

"It will be a year-round facility," said the professor, "and they are planning to add additional ones in other areas of the country. We hope to provide a complete sports medicine complex as a service to athletes," he said.

The United States Olympic Committee has earmarked $350,000 for the project. Although Squaw Valley was used for the 1960 Winter Games, it is being remodeled so all sports can be included.

Willie's Dillies

By A BENCHWARMER

If you didn't make it out to the two day harness racing meet at the Pickaway County Fair, you really missed a good time. Glenn McCoy and his Speed Committee — Dick Shaw, Harlow Arledge, and John Fissell — really outdid themselves. The track was in excellent shape — especially after Sunday night's rain — and our local drivers made a real good showing of themselves. (Of course we're just like Willie Dillie himself — we couldn't possibly be prejudiced for the local people!)

Even if you don't know much about harness racing, it's still pretty hard to keep a calm feeling inside of you when those magnificent animals come sailing past, sweating and straining, and barely seeming to touch the ground with their hooves. We were glad we were there and we wouldn't have missed it for the world.

A big thanks to everyone who helped in any way with the fair — it was a great time and we enjoyed being there and seeing all our friends and making new acquaintances. After the fair's end tonight, everyone can start marking the days off the calendar until Pumpkin Show!

So you don't think that the summer is really slipping by us all that fast? Well — tonight in Canton the cream of the Ohio high school football crop last season will square off in the annual North-South All Star game — and right here in Pickaway County, the high schools have started football conditioning drills and the squads are all busy preparing for that magical moment — 8 p.m. on the evening of September 9. It kind-of reminds you of when you were a kid waiting for Christmas morning to roll around.

The fearless forecast — we'll take the South over the North in Canton, and the Reds will pull out a good series against Pittsburgh.

Until next time — have a nice day, be a good sport.

Petty Has Woes In Talladega 500

TALLADEGA, Ala. (AP) — Richard Petty didn't seem too excited after his qualifying run for Sunday's Talladega 500 Grand National stock car race.

"Do you need more horsepower, Richard?" "Do you need to work on the chassis?" "Do you need to put in a different gear?" he was asked.

He replied wearily, "What we need is a Chevrolet."

But his Dodge was faster than the trouble-plagued Fords, he was reminded.

"Yeah, but the Chevrolets beat me bad and we don't have any problems," Petty responded.

Then he noticed his speed of 188.664 miles per hour was not only 11th fastest, but also slower than that of Janet Guthrie.

As Petty walked toward his truck to leave, he said, "The doll outqualified me, didn't she?"

Yes, she did.

"I guess she outdrove me too," he said with a sigh.

Miss Guthrie was ninth fastest, at 189.391 m.p.h., in a Chevrolet. It was a closed course speed record for women, eclipsing her Indianapolis record of 188.957. Benny Parsons, fresh from his victory last week at Mount Pocono, Pa., won the pole position with a speed of 192.684 as Chevrolets swept the top 10 qualifying spots.

"The Chevy teams dominate,"

Parsons said. "And I feel like we've got one of the top Chevrolet teams on the circuit."

The Chevrolets, Dodges and Fords qualified in something like groups. Actually, only one of the Fords qualified at all on Thursday when the top 20 spots were taken.

The Mercury of David Pearson and the Fords of Buddy Baker and Dick Brooks all had to wait and try today for one of the final 20 positions for the $200,000 race.

"We got out this morning and ran about 177," said disappointed Pearson, who didn't even try to qualify Thursday. "Things have got to get better."

Woman Winner In Horseshoes

GREENVILLE, Ohio (AP) — Debby Michaud of Raynham, Mass., won the Women's Class A World Horseshoe championship on Thursday in a pitch-off with defending titlist Ruth Hangen of Getzville, N.Y.

In Thursday night's second round of the men's Class A championship Elmer Hohl of Ontario, Canada was undefeated. His two round record is 12-0.

Carl Steinfeldt of Rochester, N.Y., the defending champion, and Glen Henton of Maquoketa, Iowa, both sport 11-1 records through the first two rounds.

Bengals, Packers To Clash In Exhibition

GREEN BAY, Wis. (AP) — The Green Bay Packers confront one of the National Football League's stingier defenses Saturday night when they open their exhibition season against Cincinnati. And to help beef up their offensive line the Packers have acquired guard Larron Jackson from Atlanta.

Jackson, 6-foot-3 and 260 pounds, has been a starter throughout his six year NFL career. He was obtained on Thursday for an undisclosed draft choice.

Jackson, a former University of Missouri star, was drafted on the fourth round by Houston in 1971 and was traded to Denver before his rookie season. He started at left guard for four seasons at Denver and two at Atlanta.

"We're happy to have him, and know he'll make a strong impression," Packer Coach and General Manager Bart Starr said. "He gives us added strength, depth and experience, and he will take some heat off our young players in the offensive line."

Starr said it is uncertain whether Jackson will play against the Bengals Saturday night.

Green Bay's offensive line, one of the weakest in the NFL last season, was further riddled by offseason retirements of Gale Gillingham and Bruce Van Dyke, last year's starting guards. Veteran center Bob Hyland, listed as No. 1 left guard earlier in training camp, was waived this week at his request.

Starr said Tom Lyons, former Denver starter signed as a free agent this week, probably will start at left guard against Cincinnati. Second year player Mel Jackson is the starting right guard. Backup guards are rookies Rick Scribner and Rell Tipton.

The Packers' offensive line will face a Bengal front four which anchored the NFL's seventh ranked defense last season. The key line matchup is expected to be Cincinnati defensive end Coy Bacon, NFL quarterback sack leader last season with 26, vs. Mark Koncar, the Packers' highly regarded second year offensive tackle.

The Bengals tied Pittsburgh for the American Conference Central Division title last year with a 10-4 record, while Green Bay was last in the NFC Central at 5-9.

"It will be a fine test for us," Starr said. "Cincinnati is an excellent football team. I can't think of a better way to begin than against a good team."

Starr and Bengals' Coach Bill Johnson have indicated they will play their regulars extensively before sending rookies into the game. Only rookie expected to start for either team is Cincinnati defensive tackle Eddie Edwards, one of the Bengals' three first round choices in this year's NFL draft.

Mike Butler, the Packers' top draft choice, is listed behind Clarence Williams at defensive end. Ezra Johnson, Green Bay's other first round pick, is running behind Alden Roche and Bob Barber at the other defensive end spot.

Second year man M.C. McCoy has replaced the traded Perry Smith at right cornerback, and Ollie Smith, who caught 13 passes in the Packers' final three games last year, will start with Ken Payne as wide receivers.

Petty Has Woes In Talladega 500

TALLADEGA, Ala. (AP) — Richard Petty didn't seem too excited after his qualifying run for Sunday's Talladega 500 Grand National stock car race.

"Do you need more horsepower, Richard?" "Do you need to work on the chassis?" "Do you need to put in a different gear?" he was asked.

He replied wearily, "What we need is a Chevrolet."

But his Dodge was faster than the trouble-plagued Fords, he was reminded.

"Yeah, but the Chevrolets beat me bad and we don't have any problems," Petty responded.

Then he noticed his speed of 188.664 miles per hour was not only 11th fastest, but also slower than that of Janet Guthrie.

As Petty walked toward his truck to leave, he said, "The doll outqualified me, didn't she?"

Yes, she did.

"I guess she outdrove me too," he said with a sigh.

Miss Guthrie was ninth fastest, at 189.391 m.p.h., in a Chevrolet. It was a closed course speed record for women, eclipsing her Indianapolis record of 188.957.

Benny Parsons, fresh from his victory last week at Mount Pocono, Pa., won the pole position with a speed of 192.684 as Chevrolets swept the top 10 qualifying spots.

"The Chevy teams dominate,"

Parsons said. "And I feel like we've got one of the top Chevrolet teams on the circuit."

The Chevrolets, Dodges and Fords qualified in something like groups. Actually, only one of the Fords qualified at all on Thursday when the top 20 spots were taken.

The Mercury of David Pearson and the Fords of Buddy Baker and Dick Brooks all had to wait and try today for one of the final 20 positions for the $200,000 race.

"We got out this morning and ran about 177," said disappointed Pearson, who didn't even try to qualify Thursday. "Things have got to get better."

Woman Winner In Horseshoes

GREENVILLE, Ohio (AP) — Debby Michaud of Raynham, Mass., won the Women's Class A World Horseshoe championship on Thursday in a pitch-off with defending titlist Ruth Hagen of Getzville, N.Y.

In Thursday night's second round of the men's Class A championship Elmer Hohl of Ontario, Canada was undefeated. His two round record is 12-0.

Carl Steinfeldt of Rochester, N.Y., the defending champion, and Glen Henton of Maquoketa, Iowa, both sport 11-1 records through the first two rounds.

Bengals, Packers To Clash In Exhibition

GREEN BAY, Wis. (AP) — The Green Bay Packers confront one of the National Football League's stingier defenses Saturday night when they open their exhibition season against Cincinnati. And to help beef up their offensive line the Packers have acquired guard Larron Jackson from Atlanta.

Jackson, 6-foot-3 and 260 pounds, has been a starter throughout his six year NFL career. He was obtained on Thursday for an undisclosed draft choice.

Jackson, a former University of Missouri star, was drafted on the fourth round by Houston in 1971 and was traded to Denver before his rookie season. He started at left guard for four seasons at Denver and two at Atlanta.

"We're happy to have him, and know he'll make a strong impression," Packer Coach and General Manager Bart Starr said. "He gives us added strength, depth and experience, and he will take some heat off our young players in the offensive line."

Starr said it is uncertain whether Jackson will play against the Bengals Saturday night.

Green Bay's offensive line, one of the weakest in the NFL last season, was further riddled by offseason retirements of Gale Gillingham and Bruce Van Dyke, last year's starting guards. Veteran center Bob Hyland, listed as No. 1 left guard earlier in training camp, was waived this week at his request.

Starr said Tom Lyons, former Denver starter signed as a free agent this week, probably will start at left guard against Cincinnati. Second year player Mel Jackson is the starting right guard. Backup guards are rookies Rick Scribner and Rell Tipton.

The Packers' offensive line will face a Bengal front four which anchored the NFL's seventh ranked defense last season. The key line matchup is expected to be Cincinnati defensive end Coy Bacon, NFL quarterback sack leader last season with 26, vs. Mark Koncar, the Packers' highly regarded second year offensive tackle.

The Bengals tied Pittsburgh for the American Conference Central Division

title last year with a 10-4 record, while Green Bay was last in the NFC Central at 5-9.

"It will be a fine test for us," Starr said. "Cincinnati is an excellent football team. I can't think of a better way to begin than against a good team."

Starr and Bengals' Coach Bill Johnson have indicated they will play their regulars extensively before sending rookies into the game. Only rookie expected to start for either team is Cincinnati defensive tackle Eddie Edwards, one of the Bengals'

three first round choices in this year's NFL draft.

Mike Butler, the Packers' top draft choice, is listed behind Clarence Williams at defensive end. Ezra Johnson, Green Bay's other first round pick, is running behind Alden Roche and Bob Barber at the other defensive end spot.

Second year man M.C. McCoy has replaced the traded Perry Smith at right cornerback, and Ollie Smith, who caught 13 passes in the Packers' final three games last year, will start with Ken Payne as wide receivers.

Distraught Father Can't Shake Slayings

PROSPECT, Conn. (AP) — Fred Beaudoin has a terrifying image fixed in his mind of a man beating his wife and seven children to death.

"I wake up once in a while," the big man cries openly. "I just can't sleep. I see these kids walking toward him with their arms open and he beating them."

Two weeks ago, while Beaudoin was working the midnight shift at a nearby aircraft factory, his wife, Cheryl, 29, their seven children and a young friend were found murdered in the Beaudoin's burned out home. The children ranged in age from 4 to 11. The medical examiner said they died of head injuries and smoke inhalation.

Beaudoin's foster brother, Lorne Acquin, 27, has been charged with the murders and with arson. He is in prison awaiting grand jury action on Sept. 7.

Beaudoin talked to a reporter Thursday in his mother's home for the first time since the tragedy. Wearing dungarees, he rocked silently in a chair, his brown eyes transfixed. Occasionally, he paced the room and sobbed.

Since the murders, Beaudoin has lost 15 pounds from his 185-pound frame. He said he can never go back to the home where the children's toys are still in the yard and Cheryl's vegetable garden still grows. He has visited the graves a few times.

"I'm not doing much," he said. "I'm just hanging around the house. I started to leave and then I ended up turning around and coming back. I was going to go away just to be alone for a while but I'd rather be lonely with my friends."

The 33-year-old Beaudoin was asked if he thought he would be able to rebuild his life.

"I hadn't really thought about doing anything yet," he said. "It's just too soon. It's not so bad now, but that first week was terrible. We're getting back into shape, I guess, slowly."

His mother, Marion, said: "He is strong enough in his mind that he can do it, but it's going to take him a long time."

His days are preoccupied with thoughts of his wife and children.

"All I do is think about them," he said. "I just remember all the good things."

"I just can't imagine," he said in tears.

"You had to know Cheryl to appreciate this fact. Nobody didn't like Cheryl. She was the type of person, she could walk into a room and you knew she just had to know everybody. She made everybody feel so at ease."

"I just can't imagine ..." he said, not finishing the sentence.

Man Lively At Age 103

DAYTON, Ohio (AP) — Since his wife Darnell died a year ago, Isaac Floyd has been getting along pretty well. He cooks, washes dishes, makes his bed, cleans the house, and walks to the grocery.

Thursday was Isaac Floyd's 103rd birthday.

His vision is 20-40, he walks without a cane and his mind is sharp. He looks about 75.

Floyd attributes his longevity to "the Good Lord."

"And I don't drink or smoke. I love to walk and I love to keep busy. I think people sometimes die young because they don't like to work. The harder you work, the longer you live," he concluded.

Floyd was born Aug. 4, 1874 in Warren County, Miss. and moved to Dayton in 1908. He was one of five founders of the Christ Temple Apostolic Faith church in 1931. As the oldest survivor of the 160-member church, Floyd will be honored in services Sunday.

TALKING IT OVER — Robert Bowers, Saltcreek Twp., and Wayne Brown, Madison Twp., take a little time to discuss the 1977 Pickaway County Fair and agriculture in general. Bowers retired this past winter from the Pickaway County Soil and Water Conservation District where he was a technician. He is now "taking it easy" on his Saltcreek Twp. farm.

GRAND CHAMPION GOAT — Allison Jones, right, is presented the grand champion blue ribbon by the Pickaway County Fair Queen Julie Kazmierczak. The Saanen breed goat named Julie, is champ in the dairy goat category. Allison is the 11-year-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Marion Jones, Route 1, Kingston. She is a member of the Pickaway Swine and Dairy 4-H Club.

Increases Expected In Red Meat Prices

WASHINGTON (AP) — Even though the U.S. supply of red meat and chickens continues to be large and consumers are eating slightly less this year, the Agriculture Department is predicting "some increases" in retail meat prices.

The Outlook and Situation Board based the general prediction Thursday on two forces: consumers having more to spend this year on food, pushing up demand, and wholesalers' and retailers' being overdue in raising prices to recover lost profits.

The large meat supplies and feed cheap enough to discourage significant cutbacks "will probably prevent any large year-to-year increases in beef and pork prices" when the final averages are taken, it said.

But the gradual decline in the cattle population that the livestock industry has been undertaking for more than a year will begin to raise prices sometime next year, the board said.

The retail prices for choice-grade beef for the last six months of this year are expected to come out 4 or 5 per cent above the average for the first half of 1977 or the last half of 1976, the report said.

Pork prices are expected to rise 10 per cent above the first half, to a level about 4 or 5 per cent above a year ago.

Ranchers and feeders have been trying to lift their slaughter prices by reducing the large cattle inventory, but the low grain prices have been encouraging production at the same time.

The result, the report noted, was a slight increase by July 1 from a year earlier in the number of steers and heifers weighing more than 500 pounds. A large supply of younger animals to be fed grain for slaughter later means a continued steady rate of meat moving to market next year.

The forecasters projected a slight decline in beef production, from the 6.25 million pounds estimated for the July-September quarter to 6.1 million in the first three months of 1978.

despite the huge incoming feed grain crop.

But an increase in pork production from 3.05 million pounds to 3.5 million by then put the estimated winter red-meat total at 9.83 million pounds, a decline of 1 per cent from last winter.

LIGHT WEIGHT — Tami Young, 15, received first place for her light weight lamb, second place in middle weight lambs, and second place in lounge wear. She is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. David Kempton, 26831 Shoemaker Road, and is a member of the Saltcreek Swine and Sheep.

Auto Job Claims Hike OBES Work

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Mass vacation and model-changeover layoffs in the auto industry led to nearly 3,000 more persons filing unemployment benefits claims the last week of July than the week before, the Ohio Bureau of Employment Services said.

Nearly 18,000 persons filed initial claims as compared to just under 15,000 the week before — an 18 per cent increase — OBES Administrator Albert G. Giles said.

There were 932 claims under other programs, raising the week's total to 18,539, a 7.4 per cent increase over the previous week, Giles said.

Warm and humid weather with thundershowers is expected to continue in Ohio through Saturday, according to the National Weather Service.

Most showers will likely be in the northern half of the state, but all areas may receive rainfall by Saturday.

Temperatures were to be in the 80s and low 90s this afternoon, with the same range expected Saturday.

Thundershowers spread over northern Ohio Thursday night. Heavy showers caused flooding of roadways and underpasses and slowed traffic in some areas.

At Cleveland, six-tenths of an inch of rain fell in a half hour.

There were 932 claims under other programs, raising the week's total to 18,539, a 7.4 per cent increase over the previous week, Giles said.

Warm and humid weather with thundershowers is expected to continue in Ohio through Saturday, according to the National Weather Service.

Most showers will likely be in the northern half of the state, but all areas may receive rainfall by Saturday.

Temperatures were to be in the 80s and low 90s this afternoon, with the same range expected Saturday.

Thundershowers spread over northern Ohio Thursday night. Heavy showers caused flooding of roadways and underpasses and slowed traffic in some areas.

At Cleveland, six-tenths of an inch of rain fell in a half hour.

What kind of day will tomorrow be? To find out what the stars say, read the forecast given for your birth Sign.

FOR SATURDAY

ARIES (Mar. 21 to Apr. 20): Some dubious schemes may be suggested. Turn a deaf ear. Also, avoid acerbic behavior. Extremes in word or deed.

TAURUS (Apr. 21 to May 21): A beneficent Venus especially encourages artistic aspirations, romance, domestic affairs and new friendships. An all-around good day!

GEMINI (May 22 to June 21): Fine stellar influences stimulate your special gifts. Look beyond the immediate for true perspective. Intuition should be keen now.

CANCER (June 22 to July 23): Strongly auspicious aspect should lend fresh vigor and zest to day's activities. Capitalize on your inventiveness and gift for improvisation.

LEO (July 24 to Aug. 23): Reconsider a proposition which you did not think so attractive at first. Could it hold more interest in the light of recent developments? Probe deeply.

VIRGO (Aug. 24 to Sept. 23): Stress self-control and self-reliance. Don't count too much on the cooperation of others at present.

LIBRA (Sept. 24 to Oct. 23): Splendid prospects in sight. Even if results are not immediately forthcoming, good efforts will make a favorable impression, hasten reward.

SCORPIO (Oct. 24 to Nov. 23): Leave nothing to chance. Stress your innate meticulousness for detail and accuracy. In discussions, try to persuade gently, not with force.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 23 to Dec. 21): Indicated now: Fine opportunities for advancing your status, new means toward the attainment of worthwhile objectives. Stress discretion and caution, however.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22 to Jan. 20): A day in which to avoid making hasty decisions and impossible demands. In other respects, you should have smooth sailing.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 21 to Feb. 19): Some complex situations indicated, but don't be anxious. Your innate competence and proficiency in handling the unexpected should see you through.

PISCES (Feb. 20 to Mar. 20): Get out and mix with people now. A chance remark heard at a social gathering could give you a splendid idea.

YOU BORN TODAY are endowed with an innate quality of leadership; are high-spirited, imaginative and, with your great love of beauty, music and the theater, would hardly be attracted to any vocation which precluded all three. The theater should be your first choice as actor, producer, director but you may well write, in which case, you will inject both beauty and drama into your work. Your flair for the dramatic may also lead you into becoming a brilliant trial lawyer and, in business, you would make an outstanding executive. Vote For Fox

CINCINNATI (AP) — The two-time National League MVP, second baseman Joe Morgan of the Cincinnati Reds, says Nellie Fox should be voted posthumously into the Baseball Hall of Fame. Fox coached the Little Giant of the diamond when Joe broke in as a rookie at Houston more than a decade ago.

Morgan insists that Fox, a second baseman himself in his playing days, instilled the right mental attitude in him. Joe resents the fact that the baseball writers have passed Nellie over in the voting for Cooperstown.

"The trouble is that infielders are never judged by their position and, as a consequence, their batting statistics never measure up with outfielders," Joe said.

Bridges, Bells And Batteries

NEW YORK (AP) — Door bells, flashlight batteries and the Verrazano-Narrows Bridge, the world's largest suspension bridge, all have something in common. They owe their existence to Andrew Wittman.

Wittman, a surveyor, is believed to be the first American to have made zinc metal. In 1845, he produced two ounces from ore discovered on a farm four miles south of Bethlehem, Pa. Now a mine, owned by Gulf & Western's New Jersey Zinc Company, the "farm" produces 2,000 tons of zinc ore each day.

Door bells and battery casings are made of rolled zinc, smelted from the mine. And the Verrazano-Narrows Bridge cables, which span New York Harbor, are protected against rust by 2,316 tons of zinc galvanizing.

year's success in pop music. Mickey Rooney was the holdout.

He's the only older cast member left in the new "Year," which now centers on two young composers pushed to fame by a record mogul they don't realize is the scheming son of the devil.

The Mick, who unfortunately only makes brief appearances in the next four episodes because a film job kept him from working regularly in the series, now plays a different character.

He's cast as Mickey Durbin, of Boise, Idaho, a minor league showman who comes to Hollywood with his two nephews, Greg (Greg Evigan) and Paul (Paul Shaffer) and Greg's true love, Linda (Priscilla Lopez).

Seems Greg, who looks as if he takes Michael Landon pills, and Paul, who resembles Paul Simon with his glasses off (Elton John with them on) have written a musical they hope to get produced on Broadway.

Mickey steers them to Paragon Records, intending to seek financing from an old pal who heads the company. Inquiries are made.

"Do you have a shovel?" asks the receptionist. Then she explains: "He was buried eight years ago."

Which sets the stage for hijinks with the new Paragon chief, Frederick J. Hanover, played by lighter-than-air flair by Gabriel Dell. He, the devil's son in mufti, uses greed of mortals well.

For example, rock star Billy Worth (Timothy Thomerson) is one of his success stories. Having made Billy the idol of millions on a handshake deal, he now urges this worthy to sign a contract.

Billy balks after noting the pact calls for "selling yew mah soul and spending eternity in hell." He signs after being briefly stripped of his shirt sleeves and hearing his voice rise three octaves.

Hence, when his dad, "the big D," demands two more souls by nightfall, he hastens to lure Greg and Paul, whom he first gave the brisk brush-off, into his hellish fold.

He magically turns the lads, who can't sing, into rock vocalists, which is the same thing. (It must be said that even with lush musical backing, Greg and Paul don't seem quite ready for the small time.)

But all is resolved as the boys, amid a well-paced hour of skulduggery and persiflage, are propelled to stardom.

Whether in the next four Fridays they'll get star ratings without the regular, skilled tomfoolery of Rooney remains to be seen. But this looks like a pretty good "Year" after all the waiting.

SANTA BARBARA, Calif. (AP) — What price chivalry? Ten bucks, no less.

Just as the man was persuaded to assist her from simple neighborliness city firemen arrived and put out the fire — free.

Patsy's mom held two national butterfat records and her grandma held the national title for 13 years.

House To Complete Work On Energy

WASHINGTON (AP) — The House of Representatives, working through the last sections of President Carter's national energy program, is adhering to White House wishes except for the issue of a higher gasoline tax.

With House leaders hoping to complete work on the bill today before Congress begins a month-long recess, the main votes remaining are on a Republican effort to junk the President's energy plan in favor of their own.

Meanwhile, James Schlesinger, Carter's nominee to head the new Department of Energy, was scheduled to be sworn in today in a White House ceremony.

Schlesinger won Senate confirmation in the post on Thursday, hours after Carter signed legislation setting up the first new Cabinet department in 11 years.

Generally, the GOP alternative energy plan calls for less regulation of the oil industry. Backers of the proposal say it would assure ample fuel supplies and prevent a repetition of last winter's shortages and plant closings.

The Republican blueprint has virtually no chance of approval by the Democratic House, and Republicans are so confident that Carter's program won't work that they already have announced plans to campaign against it in next year's congressional elections.

In debate Thursday, lawmakers handed the President one of his few setbacks on the bill, rejecting a plan he supported to hike the federal gasoline tax by a nickel a gallon. The vote was 339-82 against increasing the current tax of four cents a gallon.

ferred minor injuries in the crash.

Ms. Spalding was driving south on Route 674, according to Deputy Don Hamilton, and was attempting to make a left turn into a private driveway.

She apparently turned in front of a northbound car driven by Jerry L. Ratcliff, 27, Route 1, Stoutsville. Ratcliff's car skidded 100 feet before impact.

Scot A. Schooley, 9, 105 Stella Ave., a passenger in the Ratcliff car, was not hurt.

Three people were hurt when a car crashed into a tree 9:36 p.m. Thursday in Williamsport.

David Lowery, 19, 219 Second Ave., driver of the car, was treated for a laceration to his chin, two broken teeth, and a knee injury.

Darrell Robinson, 15, 149 Jones Road, suffered a contusion to his left elbow, and Jimmy Lowery, 18, 219 Second Ave., suffered a nasal fracture and a contusion to his right shoulder.

The three people were treated at Berger Hospital.

Deputy Dale Parish said Lowery was driving north on Water St. and had passed the intersection of Parker St. when he failed to negotiate a curve and crashed into a tree owned by the Village of Williamsport.

Theodore K. Wolfe, 23, 1053 Mulberry Road, suffered a laceration to the finger on his left hand in a single car accident about midnight Thursday on the Walnut Creek Pike, one tenth of a mile south of Swackhammer Road.

Deputy Terry Frazier said Wolfe was driving south on the Walnut Creek Pike when he apparently fell asleep while in a curve to the right.

His car went left of center and skidded sideways for 116 feet before crashing into a ditch, fence, and two small trees.

County Board Hires Lanman As Consultant

JUD LANMAN

The county board of education hired Judson Lanman as a part-time consultant for the county office and local school districts.

Before his retirement in 1971, Lanman had served as the executive head at Williamsport. After consolidation he was the first local superintendent for the Westfall Local District and later served as Pickaway County Superintendent of Schools.

Since he retired from full-time duties in 1971 he has served as part-time consultant for the Ross County Board of Education.

In other action, the board adopted a curriculum guide for physical education for grades 7-12 for use in the local schools.

Approval was given for Mrs. Marjorie Evans, primary supervisor, to coordinate an art workshop for 45 elementary teachers, sponsored by Binney and Smith Art Supply Company.

The workshop will be held at the Walnut Elementary School on November 15, 16, 17. The county board will assume any expenses not covered by the art company. Projects and materials made by the teachers during the twelve art sessions will become property of teachers involved and their individual schools.

The board voted to continue to serve as fiscal agent for the Central Ohio Media Region, which is comprised of four centers including the Pickaway County center operated by the county board.

The region covers a 14-county area in central Ohio. County superintendent Edward Martin was authorized to purchase $4,500 worth of new films to add to the center's collection.

Upon the recommendation of the art study committee a basic art textbook, "Art Fundamentals, Theory and Practice," was adopted for use at the secondary level.

She apparently turned in front of a northbound car driven by Jerry L. Ratcliff, 27, Route 1, Stoutsville. Ratcliff's car skidded 100 feet before impact.

Scot A. Schooley, 9, 105 Stella Ave., a passenger in the Ratcliff car, was not hurt.

Three people were hurt when a car crashed into a tree 9:36 p.m. Thursday in Williamsport.

David Lowery, 19, 219 Second Ave., driver of the car, was treated for a laceration to his chin, two broken teeth, and a knee injury.

Darrell Robinson, 15, 149 Jones Road, suffered a contusion to his left elbow, and Jimmy Lowery, 18, 219 Second Ave., suffered a nasal fracture and a contusion to his right shoulder.

The three people were treated at Berger Hospital.

Deputy Dale Parish said Lowery was driving north on Water St. and had passed the intersection of Parker St. when he failed to negotiate a curve and crashed into a tree owned by the Village of Williamsport.

Theodore K. Wolfe, 23, 1053 Mulberry Road, suffered a laceration to the finger on his left hand in a single car accident about midnight Thursday on the Walnut Creek Pike, one tenth of a mile south of Swackhammer Road.

Deputy Terry Frazier said Wolfe was driving south on the Walnut Creek Pike when he apparently fell asleep while in a curve to the right.

His car went left of center and skidded sideways for 116 feet before crashing into a ditch, fence, and two small trees.

County Board Hires Lanman As Consultant

JUD LANMAN

The county board of education hired Judson Lanman as a part-time consultant for the county office and local school districts.

Before his retirement in 1971, Lanman had served as the executive head at Williamsport. After consolidation he was the first local superintendent for the Westfall Local District and later served as Pickaway County Superintendent of Schools.

Since he retired from full-time duties in 1971 he has served as part-time consultant for the Ross County Board of Education.

In other action, the board adopted a curriculum guide for physical education for grades 7-12 for use in the local schools.

Approval was given for Mrs. Marjorie Evans, primary supervisor, to coordinate an art workshop for 45 elementary teachers, sponsored by Binney and Smith Art Supply Company.

The workshop will be held at the Walnut Elementary School on November 15, 16, 17. The county board will assume any expenses not covered by the art company. Projects and materials made by the teachers during the twelve art sessions will become property of teachers involved and their individual schools.

The board voted to continue to serve as fiscal agent for the Central Ohio Media Region, which is comprised of four centers including the Pickaway County center operated by the county board.

The region covers a 14-county area in central Ohio. County superintendent Edward Martin was authorized to purchase $4,500 worth of new films to add to the center's collection.

Upon the recommendation of the art study committee a basic art textbook, "Art Fundamentals, Theory and Practice," was adopted for use at the secondary level.
